

In the six years that we've been selling t shirts and blouses, My Liberty Threads has created tens of thousands of American labor hours.

Imagine how much we could impact things if we were to grow My Liberty Threads into a major player on the apparel scene?

With the help of dozens of individuals and small stores selling our shirts across the country, we're well on our way.

For the first time, My Liberty Threads is actively seeking an investor that sees where we're going, and wants to be a part of it.

Right now just might be a pretty good time to come aboard!
